

The Author

Lynn Manaster Alperin holds Bachelor of Arts degrees in liberal arts from the University of Chicago and in English literature from Goucher College in Baltimore. Her professional activities include writing, editorial, research, and public relations experience in the fields of medicine and industrial relations. A native of Chicago, Mrs. Alperin has lived in Galveston the past fourteen years.